Did you know?

The first residents of this area made good use of acorns for food. White oak trees are the most common oaks across the continent and can live about 450 to 650 years, growing up to 100 feet tall!

The inner nutmeat of a white oak acorn is whitish in color, giving the tree its name. Compared to other acorns, white oak acorns are the best acorns to cook with since they are low in tannic acid making them naturally sweet.

VOLUNTEER OF THE MONTH

Samantha Bertone

I have lived in Annapolis my whole life, I went to Broadneck High School and I am now a freshman at AACC majoring in Business. I searched for a volunteering opportunity for a class assignment and knew right away that I wanted to complete my service hours at Chesapeake Children's Museum. I fully support and love everything these guys do! Thanks so much for providing me with this amazing opportunity. I can say I enjoyed my homework instead of looking at it as a chore!
